

Engage your employees with their financial wellbeing

Your people are one of the biggest assets of your organisation, and as such, you choose to support and reward your people by using your employee benefits package.

We are passionate about helping your people to achieve financial certainty through our financial wellbeing strategies; including employee financial education and communication.

As firm advocates of face-to-face communication, we understand that this isn't necessarily an option for some employers. This is why we have developed our online education and communication tool; Mybenefitsatwork.

Retain your people by keeping them engaged

Our employee benefits and engagement portal, Mybenefitsatwork, was created to help your people understand the value of their benefits, making them feel appreciated and happy.

Using everyday language to explain complex matters in a way that's straight forward and engaging, the portal not only features a range of informative pages on each benefit provided but it also hosts:

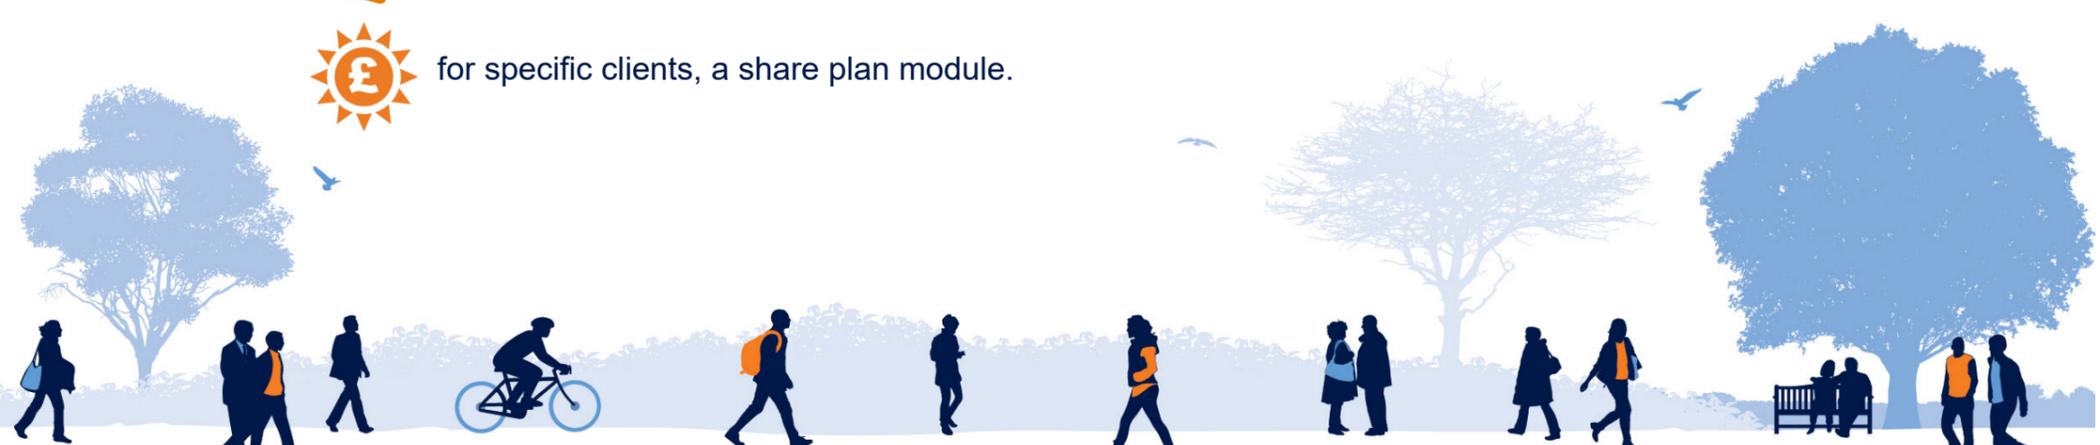

-  an exclusive financial wellbeing hub;
-  a total reward statement tool;
-  a pension calculator;
-  a financial wellbeing survey;
-  a dedicated financial concierge service;
-  a bi-monthly newsletter; and
-  for specific clients, a share plan module.

Empower your people to take control of their money

Educating your people on financial matters and encouraging them to take steps towards improving their financial wellbeing can help them deal with stressful situations in a positive manner.

The Financial Wellbeing Hub was designed to help employees increase their knowledge on financial matters, and give them the confidence to manage their money more wisely. It features:

- educational and action producing articles;
- access to financial coaching;
- inspiring videos; and
- a range of other useful tools and resources.

Make sure your people feel appreciated

Help your people to truly understand the value of their benefits at the touch of a button. Total reward statements can help them feel appreciated as it illustrates the financial value of their entire benefits package; encompassing salary, bonus, pension contributions, and all other available benefits that are often forgotten.

Encourage your people to create healthy savings habits

If you offer share plans to your people, this is a great way to help them develop healthy saving habits. Encourage your employees to join the schemes you offer by informing them of the advantages of the plans, through a sophisticated portal that will keep them engaged, from launch to maturity of the schemes.

Modular to suit your needs

Whether you need a complete solution to showcase your benefits and support your people's wellbeing, or just a cost-effective and engaging way to promote your share plan scheme, Mybenefitsatwork can work for you. The system is completely modular, so you can pick and choose the sections relevant to you, that suit your people's needs.
