

Workplace Financial Wellbeing half day conference

Thursday 19th September 2019 – 8.30am – 1.00pm at The Royal Automobile Club, Pall Mall, London

Why you should attend?

46% of people spend more than 4 hours per week at work dealing with their personal finances. This is undoubtedly going to have an impact on your business, through a reduction in productivity and increased employee absenteeism. At this content sharing event we will be providing information and practical solutions to help you improve the financial wellbeing of your employees.

This half day conference will bring together a range of industry experts to look at the role employers play in the financial wellbeing of their employees, why financial wellbeing should be included in your wider wellbeing strategy and give you key takeaways so you can get started straight away.

Some of our speakers include:

Jason Butler

Head of Financial Education at Salary Finance,
Author and Financial Wellbeing Expert

Darren Laverty

Author, Speaker and Financial Wellbeing Strategist at Second Sight

Tracey Clifton

Head of Workplace and Customer Communication at Aegion UK

John Hoffmire

Personal Finance Employee Education Fund Director and Research Associate at University of Oxford

Tony Vickers-Byrne

Chief Adviser for HR Practice at CIPD

Simon Pickerill
