

ONLINE WORKSHOP

Second Sight Wellbeing Workshop
Thursday 10th December - 9.30am

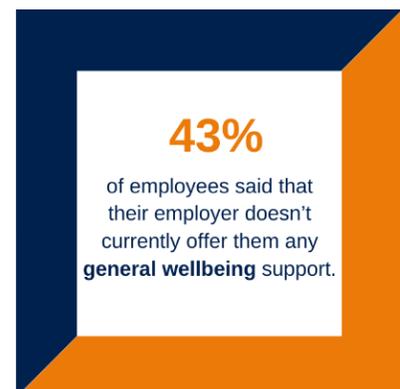

The Second Sight wellbeing workshop

Don't miss Second Sight's unique webinar on 10th December from 9.30am-10.30am. This online, interactive workshop is designed to help HR professionals gain practical tips on mental and financial wellbeing in the workplace.

Join this live interactive workshop where we will be highlighting the importance of having a good wellbeing strategy, as well as discussing:

- how mental and financial wellbeing are linked;
- how to spot gaps within your own wellbeing strategy;
- practical solutions to improving employees' financial and mental wellbeing;
- how to promote wellbeing to your employees; and
- a case study from Ipsos MORI on how they have successfully implemented financial wellbeing into their organisation.

There will also be a Q&A session to discuss your own challenges and use learnings from the workshop to make some immediate breakthroughs.

Now more than ever before, its vital employers are supporting the wellbeing of their employees. And, with mental and financial wellbeing so interlinked, it's important employers are supporting both. Our expert speakers can help you do just that.

About our speakers

Matthew Mitten, Partner at Second Sight

Matthew has 20 year's experience working in financial services and employee benefits. He has been instrumental in the successful implementation of numerous employee benefits and pension schemes. Matthew's knowledge of the pension and benefits sector is extensive and he's been involved in all aspects including; auto-enrolment, pension scheme launches, financial education, communication and flexible benefits.

Mark Bingham, Partner at Second Sight

Mark Bingham has worked in Financial Services for over 31 years and in Employee Benefits since 1999. He regularly speaks at leading benefits and pension conferences, sharing platforms with key opinion generators and even Government ministers. He has gained a reputation for making the complex easy to understand; and fun too! Mark's first book, 'COMMS – moving your benefits story on', was published this year.

Michaela O'Reilly, Reward Manager at Ipsos MORI

Michaela has a background in pension consultancy and made the jump from the consultancy world into HR 7 years ago. Michaela has been working at Ipsos MORI for nearly 4 years and in that time has introduced a financial education programme as part of their mental wellbeing strategy. She has implemented a new pension plan provider, workplace savings benefit and reward and recognition programme. Employee wellbeing is at the centre of what they do at Ipsos MORI.
